Over the past years the Hungarian financial indicators have exceeded the expectations, however recent challenges with COVID19 have turned the economy up and down. A country's ability to survive will depend on its ability to appropriately react and proactively mitigate the impacts.

Macroeconomics have always been an important factor to consider for Swedish companies. Therefore, the Swedish Chamber of Commerce in Hungary offers you a unique opportunity to start a dialogue with distinguished economic experts:

András Vértes (President, GKI Gazdaságkutató Zrt.),
György Jaksity (Chairman of the Board, Concorde Értékpapír Zrt.) and Dávid Németh (Senior Analyst, K&H Bank Zrt.)

Moderator: Péter Felfalusi (CEO, Intrum Justitia Zrt.)

The event is free of charge and is exclusively attainable for the members of the Swedish Chamber of Commerce and our selected guests. The invitation is personal, but you can designate 1-2 additional company colleagues to join.
